

Community Benefit Programs

 The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia®

We Are Better Together

For The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, all kids matter. Our mission to improve children's health extends beyond the walls of our facilities and into the community. CHOP has more than 100 community benefit programs that strive to ensure children, especially the most vulnerable, experience the joys of childhood.

Many of the Hospital's community-based programs take a public health approach in response to serious health challenges in Philadelphia, identified by CHOP's community health needs assessment — challenges such as pervasive poverty, access to care, adolescent services, obesity prevention and behavioral healthcare. Other programs address needs farther afield. Many programs are able to operate because of CHOP employees' passion and willingness to volunteer.

CHOP's dedication to addressing community needs was recognized when the Association of American Medical Colleges presented Children's Hospital with the 2015 Spencer Foreman Award for Outstanding Community Service.
